Item 2 Business report for 2022

Taiflex Scientific Co., Ltd. Business Report for 2022

1. 2022 Operating Results

The Company generated net revenues of NT$8,722 million in 2022, a decrease of 7.3% from NT$9,405 million in 2021. Net income attributable to shareholders of the parent company came to NT$700 million, down 4.7% year-over-year, with an earnings per share of NT$3.35. During the year, the supply chain disruption caused by Russia-Ukraine war and Covid-19 as well as the prolonged loose monetary policy fueled global inflation. As a result, major central banks initiated rate hike cycles to battle against inflation. Under the dual influence of price spikes and rising interest rates, the end-market demand of the global consumer electronics plummeted. The plunge along with the digesting of substantial inventories accumulated during the pandemic in every stage of the supply chain put sales under greater recessionary pressure.

Amid the stagnant end demand, we eliminated the adverse impact of plunging demand with our fine customer mix and competent supply chain management and suffered only a slight decrease in terms of revenue and profit. Furthermore, we escalated our investments in new material research and development as well as product sampling, striving to expand our market share while awaiting economy recovery to take our operation to the next level.

Looking at 2023, as the lagging response of tight monetary policy kicks in and the Russia-Ukraine war persists, global spending is expected to remain relatively sluggish in the first half of the year. However, the supply chain inventory digestion may come to an end in the first half of 2023; therefore, there could be opportunities for recovery in the second half of the year. Since sustained price pressure and high costs of capital still have an enormous impact on business operation, the world's leading companies opt for layoffs and capital expenditure reductions to cope with the economic downward spiral. In view of the situation, reasonable control over operating costs and appropriate research and development efforts will be crucial for sustainable operation and future growth under the circumstances.

In response to the high level of uncertainty in current economic climate, risk control and operating cost reduction are our priorities. Meanwhile, we aim for reasonable allocation of resources to continue necessary investments, thereby enhancing our leading position in the supply chain and expanding our market share. Through the launch of new materials, we can further capture the emerging requirements for high-frequency and high-speed communications as well as the enormous business opportunities in electronic components driven by alternative fuel vehicles to ignite long-term growth momentum.

(3) Directions of research and development: heading towards high value-added materials

A. Electronic materials

Electronic devices continue to advance towards high-frequency and high-speed communications as well as being compact and energy-saving. We allocate our research and development resources on product developments of the following three themes: materials featuring high frequency, high speed, and low latency to satisfy transmission requirements; materials featuring high dimensional stability and low ion transport to satisfy system-level packaging and fine line requirements; and heavy copper materials with thick insulation layer to satisfy charging requirements. We fulfill customers' demands with our comprehensive product portfolio and offer total solutions with our core formula capabilities. Besides communications, we will also engage in the development of high weather resistance and high stability materials for the automotive segment.

B. Heat dissipation materials

Besides making progress in electronic materials, we utilize our core formulas and production capabilities to diversify product lines. In light of the heat management demand brought about by high performance computing, we actively take part in heat dissipation materials and deepen our involvement in heat dissipation for the automotive market in order to smooth out the higher volatility of the electronic industry.

C. Semiconductor materials

Through a spin-off, Taiflex established Taichem Materials Co., Ltd. in September 2020 to take charge of the semiconductor material business. At present, the main products include laser release materials which are primarily used in the advanced packaging process as well as packaging materials for mini-LED and micro-LED. We now align our work with progresses of customers and offer customized services through in-house formula technology. As the production volume of customers picks up, so would our growth momentum.

2. Overview of 2023 Business Plan

(1) Business policy

The most dominant risk in 2023 is the combination of high inflation, rising cost of capital and sluggish end demand. In addition, the increasing awareness of sustainability leads to elevated expectations on companies' levels of ESG involvement. Companies are thus confronted by increasing investments and operating costs, putting more pressure on operating margins.

We will reinforce our risk control mechanisms in light of the situation. To start with, we will implement supplier diversity and establish dynamic inventory mechanism, allowing flexibility in global production deployment. At the same time, dual certification and sourcing will be required for key materials to lower the risk of supply chain disruption from a single region. In response to ebbing consumer spending, we will continue with our inventory control measures and implement customer credit management policy. Cash will be maintained at an appropriate level through prudent financial management policies to cope with the impact of potential recession. Risk management measures not only increase our risk tolerance, but also identify investment opportunities stemming from economic downturn.

As the pandemic boom fades, shipments of laptops and tablets are under recessionary pressure. The situation plus a lack of compelling features in smartphones decelerates the overall sales momentum. Nevertheless, the widespread of 5G adoption, continual enhancement on camera resolution and growing demand from metaverse and alternative energy vehicles can still push forward the demand for material upgrades, which become growth opportunities for upstream material suppliers. We are recognized by international companies for our sustainable operating capacity and have maintained long-term partnerships. We continue to work closely together on the research and development of new materials in order to seize business opportunities from new applications.

In contrast to new applications, cost competitiveness is the deciding factor in the traditional materials market. With advantages in economies of scale, global production capacity and supply chain management competence, we can satisfy customers' demand with low-risk and competitive cost structures, keeping on expanding market share and securing our leading position in the competition.

ESG is another key issue for modern-day corporations and even considered a determinant in supplier selection for international corporations. Being a long-term industry leader, we have sufficient resources to invest in various aspects including environmental protection, social welfare and corporate governance. While fulfilling our corporate social responsibilities, we can ensure that we would withstand the scrutiny of competent authorities and international brands as well as maintain a stable growth.

(2) Sales volume forecast and basis

Electronics materials: Sales in 2023 are expected to stay flat compared to 2022

Basis:

- A. The devastating effects of ongoing inflationary pressure and high costs of capital on consumer spending, plus the disappearance of pandemic boom all contribute to recessionary pressure on the overall demand for consumer electronics.
- B. Even though the market has lost growth momentum, as our competitiveness and resources available surpass that of our competitors, we can further expand our market shares, thereby keeping our shipments flat compared to 2022.
- C. In summary, although we expect to see weakening market demand in 2023, we aim to increase our market share with our comprehensive product lines, reputable quality products and cost competitiveness, driving up the sales volume of electronic materials to stay flat compared to last year.

(3) Key production and sales policies

- A. Expand the supply capacity of Rudong production base to support the increasing demand for local production as well as reduce the supply chain disruption risk at other production bases.
- B. Complete the construction of our Thailand production base to further improve our supply flexibility for regional economic developments.
- C. Strengthen smart manufacturing, set up an intelligence center and introduce advanced production-sales planning systems to closely monitor customer demand and production dynamics, thereby swiftly adjusting our production plans.
- D. Expand the technical service team for end customers, take the lead in understanding their demand, and enhance the efficiency of product research and development.
- E. Optimize product portfolio and pricing strategy, and enhance customer satisfaction as well as profitability.

3. Strategies for Future Developments

(1) Extend the existing material formulas and precision manufacturing technology and explore market opportunities to develop new businesses in pursue of long-term growth. Besides the existing electronic materials business which will ride on the tides of 5G communications and alternative energy vehicles growth, we are expanding our operation to heat dissipation and semiconductor materials.

- (2) Through collaborations with end customers in design and joint research and development with front-end materials suppliers, plus our existing technology and advantages in economies of scale, we aim to stabilize and strengthen the overall supply chain connectivity, thereby creating high entry barriers for competitors.
- (3) Increase ESG investments. Besides systematizing workflows and carrying out waste reduction measures to reduce environmental hazards, we increase investments in renewables to meet customers' expectation and pursue sustainable developments.

4. Impacts from External Competitions, Regulatory Compliance and Macro-environment

(1) External competitions

- A. Rapid advancement in product and technology lead to quick changes in customer demand. In addition to increasing development costs, the challenge for speedy mass production of new product has turned severe while existing products are confronted with higher price competition pressure.
- B. The broad gap between peak and low seasons posts challenges to capacity flexibility and resource allocation.
- C. Governments around the world push for local supply chains as regional economy emerges.
- D. Being a leading global producer of FCCL, our competitive advantages in supply chain management and economies of scale allow us to meet customer demand in time. We also collaborate with companies in the supply chain to accelerate our progress in research and development in order to satisfy customers' desire for new products and assist them with seizing the growth opportunities.

(2) Regulatory compliance

- A. Changes in tariff competitiveness due to regional trade agreements as well as regulatory changes in cross-strait trading will have direct impact on allocation of corporate resources.
- B. Tax reform worldwide on transfer pricing will affect corporate strategies and the design of global value chain framework.

(3) Macro-environment

- A. Inflationary pressure and tight monetary policy bring about devastating effect to the market demand and increase the difficulties in supply chain inventory management, production scheduling and delivery. In addition, the long-term upward trends of costs in raw materials and personnel persist, posing a great challenge to profitability.
- B. The increasing focus on ESG will continue to drive up operating costs and relevant investments. Besides technology, quality and cost, ESG will become a crucial factor in corporate competitiveness.
- C. Our government has less participation in the prevalent regional trade integration agreements comparing to other competing countries. The growing pressure from competing with Japan and South Korea as well as future challenges from Southeast Asia countries are critical to the global strategies of companies.

Looking back at 2022, as countries gradually opened up, people's lives returned to normal. However, inflation followed by high costs of capital put the risk competence of companies to the test. The Company will stay committed to maintaining a balance between risks and operations and improve business flexibility through a variety of operational strategies, e.g., increase local purchases, adopt dynamic inventory strategies, optimize product structure, and improve production efficiency as well as expense control in order to mitigate the impact of stalling economy.

We will persistently strengthen our core competitiveness, invest research and development resources in materials of flexible electronics, heat dissipation and semiconductor, and work towards producing high-value products. At the same time, we will utilize our leading position in flexible materials to collaborate with customers in order to capture the driving forces of market growth and consolidate the foundation for sustainability.

Wishing all shareholders good health and prosperity!

Attachment I Independent Auditors' Report and 2022 Consolidated Financial Statements

Independent Auditors' Report

To Taiflex Scientific Co., Ltd.

Audit opinion

We have audited the consolidated balance sheets of Taiflex Scientific Co., Ltd. and its subsidiaries (hereinafter referred to as "Taiflex Group") as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, and the related consolidated statements of comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows for the years then ended, and the notes to consolidated financial statements (including a summary on significant accounting policies).

In our opinion, the aforementioned consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial status of Taiflex Group as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, and its consolidated financial performance and cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers, and International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), International Accounting Standards (IAS), IFRIC Interpretations (IFRIC), and SIC Interpretations (SIC) endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China.

Basis for audit opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Auditing and Attestation of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants and auditing standards. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of Taiflex Group in accordance with the Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountant of the Republic of China ("the Norm"), and we have fulfilled our other responsibilities in accordance with the Norm. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key audit matters

Key audit matters are ones that were of most significance in our audit of the consolidated financial statements of Taiflex Group for the year ended December 31, 2022 based on our professional judgment. These matters have been covered during the audit of the overall consolidated financial statements and in forming the audit opinion. We will not express a separate opinion on these matters. Key audit matters to be communicated on the independent auditors' report are stated as follows:

1. Impairment of receivables

Net receivables generated from the selling of flexible copper-clad laminate and cover layer amounted to NT$3,693,309 thousand and accounted for 29% of Taiflex Group's consolidated total assets as of December 31, 2022. Hence, it was considered a material item to the Group. Loss allowance for accounts receivables was measured at an amount equal to lifetime expected credit losses. As the measurement of expected credit losses involved judgment, analysis and estimation and the outcome would affect the net accounts receivables, the impairment of receivables was identified as a key audit matter.

Our audit procedures included, but not limited to, the assessment on the appropriateness of expected credit loss rate for receivables, i.e., tests on the effectiveness of internal control established by the management for receivables, random selection of customers for receivable confirmations, and verification of subsequent collections in order to assess the recoverability of receivables. We tested the accuracy of aging, analyzed changes in aging, and assessed the reasonableness of receivables with longer collection terms.

We also considered the appropriateness of disclosures on receivables and associated risks in Notes 5 and 6 to the consolidated financial statements.

2. Inventory valuation

As of December 31, 2022, net inventories of flexible copper-clad laminate and cover layer amounted to NT$1,770,596 thousand; thus, it was a significant item to Taiflex Group. Due to uncertainties arising from rapid changes in product technologies, allowance for inventory obsolescence and valuation losses involved significant judgment of management. Hence, it was considered a key audit item.

Our audit procedures included, but not limited to, tests on the effectiveness of internal control established by the management for inventories, such as cost carryover of inventories, assessment on inventory status, evaluation on management's stocktaking plans, and on-site observation of stocktaking at major warehouses to ensure the quantities and conditions of inventories. We assessed the accuracy of inventory aging, analyzed movements in inventory aging, and considered the expected demand and market value of inventories. We evaluated management's analyses and assessments on obsolete inventories, including the estimations on the possibility of inventory realization and net realizable value, and tested whether the allowance for writing down inventories to their net realizable value was adequate.

We also considered the appropriateness of disclosures on inventories in Notes 5 and 6 to the consolidated financial statements.

Responsibilities of management and those charged with governance for the consolidated financial statements

The responsibilities of management are to prepare the consolidated financial statements with fair presentation in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and IFRSs, IASs, IFRICs, and SICs endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China, and maintain necessary internal controls associated with the preparation in order to ensure the financial statements are free from material misstatement arising from fraud or error.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, management is also responsible for assessing the ability of Taiflex Group in continuing as a going concern, disclosing associated matters and adopting the going concern basis of accounting unless the management intends to liquidate the Taiflex Group or cease the operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance of Taiflex Group (including the Audit Committee) are responsible for supervising the financial reporting process.

Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the consolidated financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance on whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement arising from fraud or error, and to issue an independent auditors' report. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error. If those amounts of misstatements, either individually or in the aggregate, could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of financial statements users, they are considered material.

We have exercised professional judgment and professional skepticism when carrying out auditing work according to the auditing standards. We also perform the following tasks:

- 1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement arising from fraud or error within the consolidated financial statements; design and execute appropriate counter-measures in response to those risks, and obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidence to provide a basis for our opinion. Fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control. Therefore, the risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error.
- 2. Understand internal controls relevant to the audit in order to design appropriate audit procedures under the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of Taiflex Group's internal control.
- 3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies adopted and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and relevant disclosures made by management.
- 4. Based on the audit evidence obtained, we conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and whether a material uncertainty exists for events or conditions that may cast significant doubts on Taiflex Group's ability to continue as a going concern. If we are of the opinion that a material uncertainty exists, we shall remind users of the consolidated financial statements to pay attention to relevant disclosures in the notes to those statements within our audit report. If such disclosures are inadequate, we need to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may result in Taiflex Group ceasing to continue as a going concern.
- 5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements (including relevant notes), and whether the consolidated financial statements adequately represent the underlying transactions and events.
- 6. Obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidence concerning the financial information of entities within Taiflex Group to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision, and performance of the audit and the preparation of an audit opinion on the Group.

Matters communicated between us and the governance bodies include the planned scope and timing of the audit, and significant audit findings (including any significant deficiencies in internal control identified during the audit).

We also provide governance bodies with a declaration that we have complied with the Norm regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may possibly be deemed to impair our independence (including relevant preventive measures).

From the matters communicated with governance bodies, we determine the key audit matters within the audit of Taiflex Group's consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2022. We have clearly indicated such matters in the independent auditors' report, unless legal regulations prohibit the public disclosure of specific items, or in extremely rare cases, where we decided not to communicate over specific items in the independent auditors' report for it could be reasonably anticipated that the negative effects of such disclosure would be greater than the public interest it brings forth.

Others

Taiflex Scientific Co., Ltd. has also prepared parent company only financial statements for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021, which we had audited and issued an unqualified opinion.

Attachment II Independent Auditors' Report and 2022 Parent Company Only Financial Statements

Independent Auditors' Report

To Taiflex Scientific Co., Ltd.

Audit opinion

We have audited the parent company only balance sheets of Taiflex Scientific Co., Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as "Taiflex" or the "Company") as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, and the related parent company only statements of comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows for the years then ended, and the notes to parent company only financial statements (including a summary on significant accounting policies).

In our opinion, the aforementioned parent company only financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the parent company only financial status of Taiflex as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, and its parent company only financial performance and cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers.

Basis for audit opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Auditing and Attestation of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants and auditing standards. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Parent Company Only Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of Taiflex in accordance with the Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountant of the Republic of China ("the Norm"), and we have fulfilled our other responsibilities in accordance with the Norm. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key audit matters

Key audit matters are ones that were of most significance in our audit of the parent company only financial statements of Taiflex for the year ended December 31, 2022 based on our professional judgment. These matters have been covered during the audit of the overall parent company only financial statements and in forming the audit opinion. We will not express a separate opinion on these matters. Key audit matters to be communicated on the independent auditors' report are stated as follows:

3. Impairment of receivables

Net receivables generated from the selling of flexible copper-clad laminate and cover layer amounted to NT$2,682,152 thousand and accounted for 22% of Taiflex's total assets as of December 31, 2022. Hence, it was considered a material item to the Company. Loss allowance for accounts receivables was measured at an amount equal to lifetime expected credit losses. As the measurement of expected credit losses involved judgment, analysis and estimation and the outcome would affect the net accounts receivables, the impairment of receivables was identified as a key audit matter.

Our audit procedures included, but not limited to, the assessment on the appropriateness of expected credit loss rate for receivables, i.e., tests on the effectiveness of internal control established by the management for receivables, random selection of customers for receivable confirmations, and verification of subsequent collections in order to assess the recoverability of receivables. We tested the accuracy of aging, analyzed changes in aging, and assessed the reasonableness of receivables with longer collection terms.

We also considered the appropriateness of disclosures on receivables and associated risks in Notes 5 and 6 to the parent company only financial statements.

4. Inventory valuation

As of December 31, 2022, net inventories of flexible copper-clad laminate and cover layer amounted to NT$1,267,489 thousand; thus, it was a significant item to Taiflex. Due to uncertainties arising from rapid changes in product technologies, allowance for inventory obsolescence and valuation losses involved significant judgment of management. Hence, it was considered a key audit item.

Our audit procedures included, but not limited to, tests on the effectiveness of internal control established by the management for inventories, such as cost carryover of inventories, assessment on inventory status, evaluation on management's stocktaking plans, and on-site observation of stocktaking at major warehouses to ensure the quantities and conditions of inventories. We assessed the accuracy of inventory aging, analyzed movements in inventory aging, and considered the expected demand and market value of inventories. We evaluated management's analyses and assessments on obsolete inventories, including the estimations on the possibility of inventory realization and net realizable value, and tested whether the allowance for writing down inventories to their net realizable value was adequate.

We also considered the appropriateness of disclosures on inventories in Notes 5 and 6 to the parent company only financial statements.

Responsibilities of management and those charged with governance for the parent company only financial statements

The responsibilities of management are to prepare the parent company only financial statements with fair presentation in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and IFRSs, IASs, IFRICs, and SICs endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China, and maintain necessary internal controls associated with the preparation in order to ensure the financial statements are free from material misstatement arising from fraud or error.

In preparing the parent company only financial statements, management is also responsible for assessing the ability of Taiflex in continuing as a going concern, disclosing associated matters and adopting the going concern basis of accounting unless the management intends to liquidate the Taiflex or cease the operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance of Taiflex (including the Audit Committee) are responsible for supervising the financial reporting process.

Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the parent company only financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance on whether the parent company only financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement arising from fraud or error, and to issue an independent auditors' report. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error. If those amounts of misstatements, either individually or in the aggregate, could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of financial statements users, they are considered material.

We have exercised professional judgment and professional skepticism when carrying out auditing work according to the auditing standards. We also perform the following tasks:

- 7. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement arising from fraud or error within the parent company only financial statements; design and execute appropriate counter-measures in response to those risks, and obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidence to provide a basis for our opinion. Fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control. Therefore, the risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud or error is higher than for one resulting from error.
- 8. Understand internal controls relevant to the audit in order to design appropriate audit procedures under the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of Taiflex's internal control.
- 9. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies adopted and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and relevant disclosures made by management.
- 10. Based on the audit evidence obtained, we conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and whether a material uncertainty exists for events or conditions that may cast significant doubts on Taiflex's ability to continue as a going concern. If we are of the opinion that a material uncertainty exists, we shall remind users of the parent company only financial statements to pay attention to relevant disclosures in the notes to those statements within our audit report. If such disclosures are inadequate, we need to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may result in Taiflex ceasing to continue as a going concern.
- 11. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the parent company only financial statements (including relevant notes), and whether the parent company only financial statements adequately represent the underlying transactions and events.
- 12. Obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidence concerning the financial information of entities within Taiflex Group to express an opinion on the parent company only financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision, and performance of the audit on those investees and the preparation of an audit opinion on the Group.

Matters communicated between us and the governance bodies include the planned scope and timing of the audit, and significant audit findings (including any significant deficiencies in internal control identified during the audit).

We also provide governance bodies with a declaration that we have complied with the Norm regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may possibly be deemed to impair our independence (including relevant preventive measures).

From the matters communicated with governance bodies, we determine the key audit matters within the audit of Taiflex's parent company only financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2022. We have clearly indicated such matters in the independent auditors' report, unless legal regulations prohibit the public disclosure of specific items, or in extremely rare cases, where we decided not to communicate over specific items in the independent auditors' report for it could be reasonably anticipated that the negative effects of such disclosure would be greater than the public interest it brings forth.

- (Note 1) The remeasurement of defined benefit plan under IAS 19 is transferred into retained earnings directly instead of through profit or loss account.
- (Note 2) In compliance with changes in the domestic accounting standards, when an entity appropriates legal reserve pursuant to Article 237 of the Company Act, the basis for the recognition is changed from net income to the sum of net income and items, other than the net income, included in the current year's undistributed earnings starting from the appropriation of 2019 earnings.
 - Legal reserve appropriated is calculated as follows: (700,483,835+44,432,092)*10%=74,491,593.
- (Note 3) In accordance with rules set by the Financial Supervisory Commission, when appropriating distributable earnings, the Company shall set aside a special reserve equal to net deductions from other shareholders' equity of the current year from the profit/loss of the current period and the undistributed earnings of the previous period. For net deductions from other shareholders' equity accumulated during previous periods, an equal amount shall be set aside from the undistributed earnings of the previous period, and the amount shall not be distributed. However, if the Company has already set aside special reserve according to the requirements in the preceding subparagraph, it shall set aside supplemental special reserve based on the difference between the amount already set aside and net deductions from other shareholders' equity.
- (Note 4) The distribution item above is calculated pursuant to the Articles of Incorporation. The amount and percentage are calculated as follows:
 - Dividends to shareholders: Cash dividend of NT$1.9 per share * 209,119,692 shares = NT$397,327,415.
